

VOLUNTEER WORK

At the Budapest Chamber of Commerce and Industry, I provided voluntary consulting services to entrepreneurs and small and medium-sized enterprises. I offered personalized advice and contributed to the development of financial awareness, risk analysis, and communication strategies. My activities supported the improvement of businesses' economic knowledge and their operations.

I participated as a Project Manager and Coach in drug prevention initiatives at Balassagyarmat High-Security Prison. I contributed to the organization of a program aimed at prevention, raising awareness, personal development, and social reintegration. I also delivered a conflict resolution session, during which I introduced communication techniques and practical conflict management methods. The initiative supported participants' development through educational and cultural activities.

As part of the Prevention Radio and Television Program, which was connected to drug prevention, I carried out Chief Editor responsibilities. I supervised the production of online radio and television content, with particular emphasis on social, psychological, and economic prevention issues. Through information sharing and education, the program contributed to public awareness and the promotion of prevention-related knowledge.

As a volunteer with Forever Buffs at the University of Colorado Boulder, I participated in reviewing scholarship applications for the 2026 scholarship program. My responsibilities included evaluating and reviewing applications, thereby supporting the implementation of the university's scholarship program.
